Mr. Brad Hoopes

“Remember and Honor Project”

Brad Hoopes will discuss his passionate project of interviewing and preserving the stories of veterans. To date he has interviewed 500+ N. Colorado veterans. From this project he took out 70 stories from the WWII section and wrote a book, “Reflections of Our Gentle Warriors”. He hopes to do the same with his Korean, Vietnam, and present day conflicts interviews someday. What started out as a simple project to preserve stories has turned into an all-consuming effort to help and honor veterans in any way he can. Brad is a volunteer and guardian with Honor Flight and is on the committee that built the Veterans Plaza in Ft. Collins. He resides in Windsor.

Picnic

August 12, 2017

J. Brian “Bear” Lihani               “Dive Into America’s Fortress”

J. Brian “Bear” Lihani was a career US Air Force officer who spent most of his career doing the NORAD mission at a variety of locations, holding numerous positions from Combat Crew Member to Unit Commander

The North American Aerospace Defense Command (NORAD) was established as a result of an agreement between Canada and the United States to defend against increasing soviet military capabilities. In the early years of World War II, the leaders of the United States and Canada agreed to military cooperation, thus beginning strong defense relations still evident today. Military and civilian personnel from both countries work together for the defense of North America. Established as a formal military command in 1958, NORAD has been headquartered in Colorado Springs since its inception. In the late 1950s, a decision was made to move the Continental Air Defense Command combat operations center to an underground facility to provide a secure and hardened location for air defense operations. After several locations were evaluated, Cheyenne Mountain, south of Colorado Springs, Colorado, was chosen for the new command center. In operation since 1966, Cheyenne Mountain Air Force Station continues to be America’s fortress.

September 09, 2017

John ‘JJ’ Mackin is a retired Navy Captain, having served 26 years as a nuclear submarine officer. He is a 1968 graduate of the U. S. Naval Academy. During his naval career, he served on four nuclear submarines, commanding USS Lapon (SSN-661) in the mid 1980’s. During his tours he deployed to the Mediterranean Sea, North Atlantic and the Indian Ocean. He made two around the world voyages and two deployments to the Arctic Ocean. He also served on several shore duty submarine support staffs. After completing his naval service in 1994, he relocated to Colorado to work in the nuclear industry at Rocky Flats. His last assignment was as a consultant at Argonne National Laboratory. He also has experience in the information technology field at Qwest and as a small business owner.

He is currently serving as Chairman of USS Colorado (SSN-788) Commissioning Committee, a group organized to support the Commissioning of Colorado’s namesake Virginia Class Submarine in late 2016. He holds four master’s degrees and is a certified Project Management Professional.

USS Colorado (SSN 788) is the 15th Virginia Class submarine. Currently under Construction in Groton, Connecticut, it is scheduled to be commissioned in late September or early October of 2017. The presentation will provide a brief introduction to the submarine force, a history of previous ships name USS Colorado and the efforts of the Commissioning Committee to support the commissioning and the crew.
